

A Creative Blend Of Educational Opportunities

At Englewood Elementary School, our focus is on mastering the standards with the support of literacy, technology and community. The result is an education that prepares students to become successful citizens in a global society. Children master the standards through a blend of literacy, technology and community support.

Academic programs are enriched with computer and media technologies – helping students master standards in reading, math, and other core areas.

Literacy

Englewood Elementary School offers a range of programs designed to develop each student's literacy skills and abilities.

- > The computer-based Accelerated Reader program blends literacy and technology skills and sharpens comprehension skills in grades K-5
- > Volunteers and tutors interact with students to encourage and reinforce literacy standards
- > A nationally recognized media center, computer-enhanced with full-time media specialist
- > Participation in the One Million Word Reading Campaign with incentives each nine weeks for students meeting the criteria

Technology

Success tomorrow depends on a sound education in technology today. Englewood offers a technology program, featuring:

- > Interactive white boards in most classrooms
- > Computer lab
- > On-campus TV Production Lab educates and provides daily schoolwide broadcasts that are produced by, directed by, and starring Englewood Elementary students
- > NASA Educational Outreach Partner with annual "Day with NASA" each May, since 1996
- > Technology-infused Physical Education and Art Programs

Plus:

- > A parent-volunteer program with participation in classroom learning activities
- > An extended day-care program before and after school
- > Business/Faith-based partners who volunteer time and financial support
- > Monthly recognition of students' behavioral and academic gains
- > Big Brother/Big Sister program involvement
- > Englewood High School Full-Service amenities
- > Tutoring available to eligible students
- > Parental involvement via Family/School Connection program
- > Breakfast in the classroom for all students
- > Student weekly recognition

Stand-alone software enables students to excel or remediate at their own pace.

A Full Range Of Exciting Educational Opportunities

As an "A" school historically, Englewood Elementary School complements these programs with educators who provide an environment where students discover a love for learning.

Online reading and math programs guide students through their mastery of standards.
